Chapter 1 by ☆ Holly ☆

I closed my eyes and all of a sudden, BOOM CRASH BANG! I had no idea what had happened, but it wasn't good.

I opened my eyes, and of course, it wasn't a good sight. Dogs flying high in the sky, floating islands, fish swimming in the air, there was so much going wrong!

I almost ran into a floating whale!

I ran around, I must have been going mad! None of this could be happening! I saw a lion underwater, breathing perfectly fine! Clouds were turning to stone, but still flying. I have broken something!

I ran around some more until I was lifted off the ground, I was floating. I tried to get back to the ground but I was being pulled upwards.

I grabbed a floating tree and hung onto it for a bit until I slowly started floating back to earth.

Well, I should probably say, the Broken Earth!

I switched on the TV to see what was going on. I saw a new earth. What was going on?! There were flustered reporters with hastily brushed hair and sloppy makeup babbling on about the natural disaster. It was everywhere, all over earth!

Tidal waves swept across countries and islands flew up and out of the water, tearing through their underground roots. Fish and sea creatures floated up through the water and birds dived deep into the sea, breathing perfectly and munching on whatever sea creatures hadn't flew up out of the water.

The world was broken.

NASA had taken some satellite photos of the world from up in space, and what they saw shocked them speechless.

The world really was broken!

Massive cracks ripped apart the oceans, dividing countries in two and ripping continents to shreds. Deep valleys of the earth's crust and mantle opened up and swallowed towns.

Who could have done this?!
